THE GENERAL IMAGE OF A VASANT VALLEY STUDENT

You've probably heard on several occasions about Vasant Valley's high rank in the list of schools across India, followed by a rant on how that isn't being emulated by its students. Others know us as a privileged bunch of children who don't seem too approachable. This, however, gives rise to the question- what is the image of a Vasant Valley School student?

Ultimately, this boils down to two contradicting personalities of the VVS student- one outside of and one within school. We're well aware of the existing stereotype of our school- bratty, spoilt, and entitled. But are we really? I mean, sure; most of us reach school wearing Kipling bags, emerging from BMWs or Audis packed with helpers and bodyguards. All of this privilege, however, seems to fade away once the bell rings.

Students chase after their classmate screaming "HAPPY BIRTHDAY", hoping to be blessed with an Alpenliebe or a Cadbury Éclair. Nobody seems to remember to bring stationary, especially during exams. The second break is where one can best witness the true story unfold. Boys jump over tables and start a Kabaddi match in the middle of the classroom. Alongside these matches, pushup contests have begun. Everyone huddles together to enjoy a good laugh at random inside jokes. Students' printers never seem to work, and their PE change seems to stay in the washing machine. The teachers simultaneously try to deal with us- Sister is busy trying to sift out students who aren't really sick and the ones who are "there for their friend". Meanwhile, subject teachers are struggling to get work done with students requesting them for more time to complete the review.

The Lunch Break begins, and students rush to the alcove, cutting the line in the pursuit of Kadi Chawal. Perhaps the best way to examine this personality is by looking back on the bizarre day without spoons. Almost nobody remembered to bring spoons, so people started getting resourceful- using cups, gloves, scales, and even gujyas! It was a situation of utmost chaos and an unforgettable one at that. Even after this madness, most people forgot their spoons the next day, too! The chaos itself, however, is what brings us together.

I agree we probably come from more privileged backgrounds and have access to many more comforts. But the school gives us the environment to stay grounded. We are not an air-conditioned school. We don't even have air-conditioned buses. Any class differences among different students are nullified by the VVS environment. All of us unite to face a common challenge: growing up.

To those who call us spoilt- yes, we sometimes are over pampered. To those who call us ungrateful- we do often whine a bit much. To those who call us arrogant- we do at times carry an entitled attitude. However, we're learning- to be aware, to care, and to wield the education we've been offered.

30th Inter House Track and Field Meet

Yell What? Yellow!

The Annual Inter House Track and Field Meet, irrespective of its nature, is an event that unites students with all types of interests. The athletes, the academics, the artists, the writers and the musicians all come together, yelling their deafening house cheers and painting their faces red, yellow, green or blue to emphasise their dedication. In its true lively nature, this day brings out the child in all of us – awakening our excitement in an extremely high-spirited manner.

The event was off to an invigorating start, with the clinks of the medals, and the thumps of each medalist and participant marching along to the beat of the band, as they set the field ablaze. The senior school house captains, games and games vice captains, and physical domain heads all came together to pledge their participation to the event in the true spirit of sportsmanship. From the typical students’ running events to the Bhaiyas race, the Didis race, and the Tug of War, the Track and Field Meet had all of us at the edge of our seats, never leaving a single person unentertained.

“I am so happy and so proud of every single Yellow House student who took part in the Inter House Track and Field Meet. It was their dedication and drive that allowed us to win for the third time.” -Tia Goculdas, Yellow House Captain

For the third year in a row, Yellow House placed first by a mile with 488 points. Their enthusiasm was unbeaten as they cut through the ropes to take the victory lap as soon as the results were announced. Chanting “Yell What? Yellow!” at the top of their lungs, every student of yellow house underwent a sense of pride for their house’s rapid rise from underdogs to champions. For the Batch of 2021, the realisation was bittersweet, as in the moment I understood that I was never going to get that feeling again. The feeling you get yelling until your voice cracks surrounded by a multitude of people with the exact same energy, if not more, is unmatched without a doubt. It’s a privilege and an honour to have experienced it at all, even if I’ll never get to again.

This event truly brings out the hidden sportsman in all of us. Our houses may be divided and working against one another but at the end of the day, we share one common thread: we’re part of a team. We are united in our victories as well as our downfalls and never let them blind us. On this day, we magnify our sense of respect and collaboration and we understand that even though there’s only one victory cup, each and every one of us is a winner. -Prakriti Mahajan, 12

In Conversation: Athletes of the Year

Q. Tell us something about the journey you undertook to achieve this position. Was it your penultimate aim?

Reyansh Poddar: I kept practicing and practicing as it was my dream for an incredibly long time. Last year, I missed this position by one point, so I resolved to work harder to get it this year.

Aryan Kapur: I had set this as my physical goal in my road map and worked towards it with determination and here I am.

Q: What advice would you give to others who want to achieve this goal?

Reyansh Poddar: You need to ultimately know your strengths and weaknesses. For example, I’m a natural sprinter, so I had to work more on my long distance running.

Aryan Kapur: Practice makes perfect and don’t let small disturbances come in your path.

Q How did it feel to get Athlete Of The Year?

Reyansh Poddar: It felt amazing to win Athlete Of The Year . I used to have dreams at night about this and I am very happy that this dream has come true.

Aryan Kapur: It felt great and it further motivated me to do better and set the bar higher for myself

30th Inter House Track and Field Meet

My favourite time of the year in school is the Inter House Track and Field Meet. It's the time of the year when I get to do what I do best: Sports! As Michael Jordan said, "Just play. Have fun. Enjoy the game". And this time around along with enjoying it, I got to prove myself too. Even though I won four golds and a silver medal in the various athletic events, I was still quite shocked when my name was called out as 'The Best Athlete of the Year'. After all, it was a competition across all classes. With my heart thumping and feeling a little awkward at having so many eyes on me, I walked up to the dias to receive the Moksh Dang Best Athlete of the Year award. Also, it felt amazing when my teachers, classmates and even seniors came up to congratulate me. This was the proudest moment of my life. And for that I want to thank all my teachers who have always encouraged me. I hope to keep up my performance and continue being a good sportsman and will try to do even better next year! Shaurya Chopra V-C

Yellow's Phenomenal Victory: Track and Field Meet is the most awaited event of the year. This year's event was very special as I am the Yellow House Captain. I could hear my friends and housemates cheering for me as I held the Yellow House placard during the walkpast. I had never felt better. Then we started with the events and I felt Yellow house had a great chance of winning. I was cheering, motivating and giving high fives to those in my house. When the results were being called out, I held my breath. In my head, I was chanting "Yellow! Yellow!". As the Yellow House was announced the winner, I screamed with joy. We, the deserving winners, jumped up and ran our victory lap. I was ecstatic that Yellow had won for the third time in a row, marking its first hattrick in the history of Vasant Valley. To play a role in this victory, to be a captain that led my awesome house to the cup made me proud. Grinning from ear to ear, I ran up to the podium and held the coveted cup with the senior school Yellow House Captain and Prefect. I have never felt happier. "Go Yellow!"

The Amazing Land Giver: It all started when we were introduced to area and perimeter. We had no clue what it was all about, but then we gradually understood the concept after our teachers made us practice it. Then a day came when we did this wonderful activity on a humongous chart paper which I decided to name "The Amazing Land Giver". And this is how it worked. We got 6 chances each in which we rolled 2 dice which gave us the length and breadth. Then everyone had to colour their area of land. Once the activity was done it was displayed on the board. And now we all know the pieces of land that we own and we also know our neighbours. Some people were very lucky as they got very large pieces of land. It was a very engaging and interesting activity and we will remember the concept well now.

Aisha Goyal V-A

Area is Amazing I love it when my teachers use games to enhance our learning. Recently we went to the Math Lab to dig deeper into the concept of area. In the lab our teachers explained a game that I found amazing. We were given 2 dice which we had to roll 6 times to earn a large piece of land. The numbers on the two dice had to be multiplied to compute the area of land that would get added to our territory. We thoroughly enjoyed the game and we also learnt the concept of area and cumulative addition.

हर साल की तरह इस साल भी हमारे स्कूल में खेल-कूद की प्रतियोगिता हुई। मैंने 100 मीटर और 50 मीटर की दौड़ में हिस्सा लिया, जिस में मुझे स्वर्ण पदक और रजत पदक मिले। मैंने 100 मीटर की दौड़ 19 सैकेंड और 50 मीटर की दौड़ 9.57 सैकेंड में पूरी की। लेकिन मुझे सबसे ज्यादा मजा क्रॉस कंट्री रेस में आया। क्रॉस कंट्री में लड़कों की दौड़ के बाद लड़कियों की दौड़ हुई। दौड़ स्कूल के पास वाले पार्क वसंत वाटिका से शुरू हुई और स्कूल के मैदान में पहुँच कर खत्म हुई। इस साल यलो हाऊस को खेल-कूद में सबसे ज्यादा नम्बर मिले। खेल-कूद की मौज-मस्ती देख कर मैं अगले साल की प्रतियोगिता का बेसब्री से प्रतीक्षा कर रही हूँ।

The Pet I Have: I have a pet dog. Her name is Muffin. She came to us in the latter half of the April or perhaps May. Her birthday is on 14th February. Every morning when I wake up, I play with her. She is very cute, but when she gets a haircut, then she is the cutest dog in the world. She wags her tail when she is excited or happy. When she licks me on my face, I feel weird but I am getting kind of used to her licking me. She is turning three years old this year. I really love my dog.

Rudra Saran III-A

The Pet I Want to Have: The pet I want to have is a puppy, because I could play with him after school and on week-ends. My mother thinks all puppies and dogs are scary but I don't. I am only scared of big dogs that bite. I don't know which puppy I will get, but I want a cute and cuddly one. If I get a puppy, I will take it to the garden near the house every day. I would love to jump with it in the house and even put it to bed. I really wish I could have a puppy.

ECOFEMINISM

Ecofeminism is a relatively new concept which sheds light on the moral connection between women and nature. It calls out to feminists and environmentalists to not limit feminism to just a philosophy, and highlights the relation between man's need to control the environment, women and economically weaker sections. In order to eliminate this domination, methods of oppression have to be identified and then studied. In other words, Ecofeminism believes that those suppressed have the ability to empathise with each other and will only help in each other's growth and development.

Women are said to have a deeper biological and a social connection with nature due to their nurturing and caring powers. These abilities have arisen not because they are females, but because they have been made to do this kind of work as mothers and home-makers for aeons. Hence, it is believed that women can reduce environmental degradation and climate change if they receive adequate education. Project Drawdown estimates that investing in girl's education can reduce up to 51.48 gigatons of the world's emissions by 2050. This will definitely give governments an incentive to build schools and promote education for the girl child.

Our value system must change as it is not only discriminating against women, but also it is harming our environment - cooperation, compassion and empathy can also get one to positions of authority. Humanity must rise above these gender divisions. It is said that patriarchy has devalued both women and nature. It has also left society devoid of empathy. It is time for women to cease chasing after power via adopting an aggressive nature. Instead they must embrace their inherent quality of compassion. The world needs us to be united and empathetic, and it is important for us to give Mother Earth what she undeniably deserves.

DELHI RIOTS- A BURNING CITY

"Goli Maro" he screamed from his podium addressing a crowd of his most rabid followers "traitors ko goli maro." In two days they swept through northeast Delhi. In two days they deepened religious divisions. In two days the absolute brutality and depravity of humanity was laid bare as rioters burnt, looted and killed.

When Kapil Mishra made his speech he knew very well what horror he was unleashing. 53 people are dead now, others lie bleeding in cramped hospital beds or float as dead bodies in sewers filled with blood and excreta. Hundreds have been rendered homeless as their livelihoods were destroyed. This is just the latest in a methodical targeting of Muslims. Twelve percent of our population follows the Islamic faith. We have the second biggest Muslim population in the world. We should be a society that sticks to its founding principles of secularism and non-violence creating a harmonious environment for people of all faiths - what our founding fathers envisioned. Yet India has regressed. Or rather, not moved forward at all. We are still divided along religious lines - the same as we were 70 odd years ago. We are stuck in an ever looping ever amplifying cycle of legislation, as media and society that reiterate this communal hate which produced one of the most violent pogroms to ever stain this country.

We are left with the stark, terrifying realization that the word of an extremist politician belonging to a right wing party with an absolute majority led to all of this. A mob, charged with whatever was said, sweeping through the streets in a chillingly systematic manner. They turned upon their neighbours, burnt the homes of friends, killed women and children. Meanwhile the police stood and looked. Looked on as they failed their nation and abandoned their sacred duty to preserve the constitution.

Yet we revert to our blame game. The Congress' reign was not without its faults. The 1984 riots and other events as such were deplorable. This, however, does not ever justify the actions taken by groups and instigated by political parties who are openly becoming patrons of particular groups advocating for extremist reform. The issue is the populist decisions being taken in favour of the majority. They are building upon an aggressive base that deals in polarized politics dedicated not to policy, but hate. Anyone who goes against is labelled - anti-national, Urban Naxalite, to name a few. But it is the ones who did this who are being anti-national. The constitution states we are a secular nation, our freedom struggle is synonymous with unity and non-violence. Going against the very core values of our nation because of religion is not acceptable. It is abhorrent. Religious hate will get us nowhere, and now one can only hope it doesn't raze this country to the ground.

IN MEMORIAM: SCHOOL SPOONS

On the 28th of February, Mrs. Krishnan made an announcement that left everyone in a state of shock: "School will no longer provide any spoons." Everyone was in a state of delirium and regret. We wished we had treated the school spoons better- because they deserved better.

So, on the 28th, we had our last meal with the school-provided spoons. "People say that you don't know what you have until it's gone. Truth is, you knew what you had- you just never thought you'd lose it." We took the spoons for granted, and they were taken away. Failure to bring a spoon became one of the worst experiences in school, where people were helpless as to what they should do. Witnesses report seeing people using their hands to eat, people using disposable cups as spoon. The most absurd was groups of 5 people huddled up in class using the same spoon, amidst a fatal virus - but this can be overlooked, for we have bigger things on our plate. Things became so ludicrous that a black market of spoons started to emerge.

Although the school spoons are gone, their memory lives on in the hearts of Vasant Valley students. The spoons will not be forgotten. To all those who pack an extra spoon in their bag: you are the real heroes.

आज की झाँसी की रानी

इतिहास के पन्नों में कई महत्वपूर्ण और शक्तिशाली महिलाओं की कहानियाँ लिखी गई हैं। आज का दिन, कल का इतिहास बन जाता है। आज की महिलाएँ कल का इतिहास लिख रही हैं और कल की महिलाओं को प्रेरणा दे रही हैं। महिलाएँ हर क्षेत्र में सफलता हासिल कर रही हैं और पुरुषों से कहीं भी पीछे नहीं हैं। इस अन्तर्राष्ट्रीय महिला दिवस पर हर महिला को महत्व और इज्जत दिया गया, जो उन्हें इतिहास से मिलना चाहिए था।

आधुनिक नारी दोहरी भूमिका निभा रही है। परिवार की देखभाल करना है और पूरे समाज से इज्जत पाना है। इसके अलावा सबके सामने आकर्षक दिखना आवश्यक हो गया है। यह सब बातें हैरान कर देती हैं ना? सामान्यतः यह सब करना तो नामुमकिन लगता होगा लेकिन आज की महिलाएँ यह सब करके अपना नाम रौशन कर रही हैं। भारत में गणित, विज्ञान, साहित्य, खेल, वित्त, हर क्षेत्र में महत्वपूर्ण महिलाओं के नाम आते हैं। हिमा दास, पी. वी. सिंधु, दीपा कर्माकर जैसी अनेक महिला खिलाड़ियों के नाम अब प्रायः सुनाई देते हैं। कड़ी मेहनत से सफलता पाकर केवल भारत नहीं बल्कि पूरे विश्व में इज्जत पाई है। इस वर्ष रक्षा बल में महिलाओं को नेतृत्व वाले पद देने का आदेश देकर नारीत्व का सम्मान किया।

खूब लड़ी मर्दानी वह तो झाँसी वाली रानी थी!

How to impress: Ms Bakshi

1. Make presentations with PICTURES AND VIDEOS. What's the point of the presentation without them?
2. The presentation in question should be ready at all times to be presented at a moment's notice. We're not really sure what spurs the demand for the presentations, but we're looking into it.
3. Watch all political movies, documentaries and shows available on Netflix - especially within the day of recommendation.
4. If you are in class 11, never read the textbook. The concepts are the same... but the notes are better.
5. In class 12, don't go to class without reading the textbook. The concepts are the same... but your short notes are better.

Have you got all of this? Yes, no, maybe?
