

Humayun's Tomb Field Trip Class 7ABC 3rd December, 2014

Today Class 7ABC went on a memorable field trip to the great Mughal Emperor Humayun's Tomb in New Delhi. We observed the perfect symmetry, beautiful tessellations and geometric Islamic patterns as well as traces of Hindu culture and art. Walking through the beautiful Charbagh gardens we admired the red sandstone monument from afar and took a peek at some tombs of noblemen and women. We even paid a visit to Isa Khan's octagonal and heavily decorated tomb! It was a pleasure to be able to admire this breath taking monument.

MY TRIP TO HUMAYUN'S TOMB

Our trip to Humayun's Tomb was truly a very evocative one, amongst the many historic sites that we have visited. This UNESCO World Heritage site is an architectural masterpiece made of red sandstone with very interesting and intricate inlay and stone work. It is greatly influenced by Persian architecture and seeing the domes and the Charbagh symmetrical gardens were beautiful.

Visiting this historical site after having worked on our project 'The Mughal Dynasty' and getting an insight into the life of Humayun, gave us a better understanding and we could more so appreciate this magnificent structure that has withstood the test of time! It was a great learning experience and a very enjoyable outing.
